transcosmos helps LAVA, a hot yoga studio, through delivering “Checking Lesson Schedule & Canceling Appointments via LINE” services

Connects “LINE Business Connect” to LAVA’s customer database

transcosmos inc. (Headquarters: Tokyo, Japan; President and COO: Masataka Okuda) offered “DEC Connect”, its proprietary API integration platform to LAVA International, Inc. (Headquarters: Tokyo, Japan; President: Takahiko Sumi; LAVA) for LAVA to deliver their new service called “Checking Lesson Schedule & Canceling Appointments via LINE ” which launched on September 3, 2018. With this new service, LAVA members can check the latest booking status and cancel their lessons via LINE, the messaging app from communications platform provider LINE Corporation, at any time.

LAVA, the largest hot yoga studio chain in Japan (Source: Pia, September 2015), operates over 380 studios (as of August 2018) and in September 2015, the number of people who took their trial lessons surpassed the 1.5 million mark (as of January 2018). Now, with this “Checking Lesson Schedule & Canceling Appointments via LINE” which utilizes LINE Business Connect, transcosmos aims to help LAVA make their services more user-friendly for their members than ever before.

Using its proprietary API integration platform “DEC Connect” as a hub, transcosmos has connected “LINE Business Connect” to LAVA’s customer database. Users can check the latest booking status and cancel lessons on LINE at any time just by connecting their LINE to their LAVA member ID. What’s more, users can check their current positions on a waitlist simply by tapping a button on LINE and so, they can check if their positions on the list have moved up right away. transcosmos plans to add booking and other helpful features going forward.

■ About “DEC Connect”

DEC Connect is a communication management platform which helps clients communicate with their customers by suitably combining various communication channels including LINE and Facebook Messenger with clients’ customer data, purchase data, website log and other customer databases as well as with chat solutions like bot and AI. With this platform, clients can send messages to their customers and execute chat-based initiatives without any development. At the same time, its API based design helps clients drastically reduce man-hour to connect various communication channels as well as to set a link to external databases and solutions.

■ About LINE Business Connect
